Dear Dr. Capps:

I would like to express my appreciation for your cogent and stimulating lecture for the 1981-82 Communicative Arts and Humanities series on "Technology and Human Values." Any lecture series can only be worthwhile as long as the individual speakers are willing to generously expend their time and energy in high quality presentations. Your lecture was such an event. You compressed into forty-five minutes a wealth of thought and information which will intrigue and stimulate the audience members for a long time to come.

Sincerely,

Pamela Cook Miller, Chair
Communicative Arts and Humanities
Lecture Series Committee
