Trinity University Press is pleased to publish your material, hereinafter referred to as the Foreword, to be included in a Volume now entitled

The Architecture of Religion: A Theoretical Essay

With this memorandum, you agree that the Foreword will be considered a work made for hire, specially commissioned for use as a Foreword to the Volume. All copyright rights to the Volume, including the Foreword, shall be owned by and in the name of

Paul Wiebe

You will receive no royalty or other monetary compensation for your Foreword, but in lieu thereof the Foreword will be included in the Volume with full credit to you, and you will receive two complimentary copies of the published volume. You may purchase additional copies of the Volume for your own use at a discount from list price.

You warrant that the Foreword is original with you and that no part of it has been previously published.

If the foregoing is acceptable to you, please so indicate by signing and dating this Memorandum below. The copy is for your files.
