Dear Mr. Furst:

Thank you very much for your thoughtful response to the CBS "60 Minutes" segment on the class on the Vietnam War that I teach.

Your colleague Ernie Strom is a man I very much admire. For that reason alone, I wish I could respond by sending you a list of books, etc., but the course is so much more than the syllabus.

At some point, I would like to conduct a seminar on the subject of "teaching about the Vietnam War." Should this happen, I know Ernie will be among the first to learn of it.

Thanks for your interest.

Sincerely,

Walter H. Capps

Dear Professor Capps,

I am a social studies teacher at the Bronx High School of Science. I am currently on sabbatical leave. I was granted my sabbatical in order to develop a course of study on the Vietnam War. My colleague Ernie Strom suggested that I contact you. I hope you will send me materials related to the course you offer at the University of California. The segment on 60 Minutes indicates that there is a vacuum to be filled. Any help you may wish to give me is most appreciated. Ernie sends his best wishes.

Yours truly,
