I just spoke with Ms. Carmen of the Santa Barbara High School District. The district is sponsoring a program to help teachers develop "constructive ethical standards" in the students.

Ms. Carmen is the coordinator. There are about 40 teachers from the various schools here in Santa Barbara who will be involved in this program.

It was recommended (by ~~someone~~ <sup>someone</sup>) that Bill Hoening be invited to speak to the teachers. But "everyone said 'oh, no' get Walter Capps if you can - he's terrific!"

SO-o-o-o, would you possibly be willing to speak to the group of teachers about ways and means of developing ethical standards in the students, some afternoon (3-5) this fall?? (They can/will pay a small stipend).

It would involve a one-hour talk and then a half hour of discussion. The afternoon is preferable; but if you can't do it then, ~~evening~~ evening is okay.

You choose the date. Are you willing?
