

Student Comments on Final Exam - RS 155 - Winter 1985 - Capps

"Thanks for a great class!" Don Johnson

"Dr Capps - Thank you for the most influential and educational experience of my life. I came in knowing nothing about the war, and I have left feeling that I am now a part of it -- part of the healing and a contributor to the welcoming home of the vets." Carrie Jaffe

"This class was by far the greatest and most rewarding. God bless you all." Kim Handley

"This was a great class! Thanks." Scott Howell

"I'd like to thank all of you -- Dr. Capps, Kay, John and all T.A.'s and veterens for making me aware of what went on and what continues to burn. You are all great leaders, and I admire you lots. Thanks so much." Jim Hallman

"I would like to thank all involved with RS 155 for making it the enlightening experience that it has been for me." Scott Hovey

"Thank you for the interesting class. I will remember it forever." David Helseth

Essay conclusion of foreign student. "I hope that you have learned a lot. And that is a great victory. Sure. You lost the war. But if you learn of the aftermath, learn of the experience. Listen to those who wnet. Listen to those who feel the guilt because they didn't go. Listen to the Vietnamese, and their interpretation. Then, after all, America has won a great victory." Kjell Lejon

Essay conclusion. "Personally, I view this class and its potential as a step in the right direction. Affording a socially mobile group with an awareness of social problems will prove to be beneficial." William Miller

Essay conclusion "I could continue to write an entire book on the experience of seeing this national symbol (the war memorial.) If feel it is incredibly appropriate symbol for the Vietnam War. It symbolizes so much of the hate, the anger, the pain of loss -- as well as the love, the healing, and the easing of the pain and suffering.. I could never thank Mariø, Wilson and Paul enough for sharing their experience at the wall with all of us. I hope it touches endless numbers the way it has us, and that it will relieve and take from the family members and veterans the apinful memories they've carried for so long." Maria Merucci
