

Just added!

Co-presented with the Walter H. Capps Center for the Study of Ethics, Religion and Public Life and the UCSB Department of Religious Studies

Reza Aslan

God: A Human History

Thu, Jan 18 / 7:30 PM / Campbell Hall

$35 / $20 / $10 UCSB students

“Aslan has become known for the elegant smoothness with which he toggles between the postures of spokesperson for his own faith and detached scholar of other traditions.” The New Yorker

The visionary host and producer of the documentary series Believer and author of bestsellers including Zealot and No god But God: The Origins, Evolution and Future of Islam, Reza Azlan has captured attention with his fascinating exploration of the world's religions. His new book, God: A Human History, traces how people across diverse times and places have humanized God (or gods). The UC Santa Barbara alumnus will examine the way we think about the divine.

Books will be available for purchase and signing

photo: Peter Komerko